First Accountable Care Organizations under the Medicare Shared Savings Program

On April 10, 2012, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) announced the selection of the first 27 accountable care organizations (ACOs) to participate in the Medicare Shared Saving Program (Shared Savings Program). The selected organizations have agreed to be responsible for improving care for nearly 375,000 beneficiaries in eighteen states through better coordination among providers. All ACOs that succeed in providing high quality care – as measured by performance on 33 quality measures relating to care coordination and patient safety, use of appropriate preventive health services, improved care for at-risk populations, and the patient experience of care – while reducing the costs of care – may share in the savings to Medicare.

Two of the ACOs announced today applied for a version of the program that allows them to earn a higher share of any savings, in return for which they have agreed to be held accountable for a share of any losses if the costs of care for the beneficiaries assigned to them increase.

Participation in an ACO is purely voluntary for providers, and people with Medicare retain their ability to seek treatment from any provider they wish.

Five of the 27 ACOs that are starting in April will participate in the Advance Payment ACO Model established by the CMS Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (Innovation Center) to encourage rural and physician-based ACOs to participate in the Shared Savings Program. Under this model, each participating ACOs will receive advance payments to help cover the costs of establishing the infrastructure needed to coordinate care for the beneficiaries they serve. The advance payments will be repaid from shared savings earned by the ACO. If an ACO does not complete the full, initial agreement period of the Shared Savings Program, CMS will in most cases pursue full recoupment of advance payments.

Because the Shared Savings Program is part of the traditional Medicare fee-for-service program, beneficiaries served by these ACOs will continue to have free choice about the care they receive. and from whom they seek care, without regard to whether a particular provider or supplier is participating in an ACO. The CMS is currently reviewing more than 150 applications from ACOs that are seeking to participate in the Shared Savings Program beginning July 1, of which over 50 are applying for the Advance Payment ACO Model.

Descriptions of the participating ACOs are appended to this Fact Sheet.

Background on the Shared Savings Program:

Section 3022 of the Affordable Care Act added a new section 1899 to the Social Security Act that requires the Secretary to establish the Shared Savings Program. The program is intended to encourage providers of Medicare-covered services and supplies (e.g., physicians, hospitals and others involved in patient care) to create a new type of health care entity, an ACO, that agrees to be held accountable for improving the health and experience of care for individuals and improving the health of populations while reducing the rate of growth in health care spending. Studies have shown that better care often costs less, because coordinated care helps to ensure that the patient receives the right care at the right time, with the goal of avoiding unnecessary duplication of services and preventing medical errors.

On Nov. 2, 2011, CMS published a final rule in the Federal Register establishing the Shared Savings Program. The final rule addressed issues relating to eligibility, governance, beneficiary rights, quality measures and performance scoring, and CMS monitoring of the ACO operations. At the same time, the Innovation Center announced an Advance Payment ACO Model to test whether providing advance payments from anticipated savings could encourage certain rural and physician-based entities to apply to participate in the program, thereby increasing the amount and speed at which ACOs can improve care for beneficiaries and generate Medicare savings.

In conjunction with the final rule, the Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General, the Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission, and the Internal Revenue Service issued separate notices addressing a variety of legal issues as they applied to the Shared Savings Program. These included the interaction of the Shared Savings Program with the federal anti-kickback, physician self-referral, civil monetary penalty (the fraud and abuse laws) and antitrust laws, as well as the Internal Revenue Code regarding the tax implications for nonprofit entities seeking to participate in ACOs. The final rule, the notice of the Advance Payment ACO Model, and the regulatory guidance on fraud and abuse were published in the Nov. 2, 2011 Federal Register.

The final rules offered ACOs the option for the first year of the program of starting on either April 1 or July 1, 2012. CMS will announce the date for submission of applications to participate in the Shared Savings Program beginning in 2013 later this year.
